A Tribute to Her Brother

Rosetta Hill Oxford

As I spent these last days with you and watched your life slip away, we were ages apart, but I remember how you and my other brothers helped our mother to take care of me when she became a widow. When I was younger, some of our loved ones have passed away, now the time has come once again. Not only do I bury my brother, but also my best friend. Although I'm a strong Christian soldier and I pray every day, I am really hurting since you went away. I know you're in a better place and until we meet again, my heart will have an empty space.

HILL, ERNEST

HODGES, KATHERINE LANCASTER (1899-2007) -- (Katherine Hodges was the sister of the late Lucy Oxford. Lucy was the wife of the late John L. Oxford and the mother of Mrs. Lois Hall). Katherine Lancaster Hodges was born on March 9, 1899 at 808 Real Street in Orlando, Florida. She was the eleventh child of fifteen born to the late William and Lucy Lancaster who later moved the family to 326 N. Westmorland Dr., which is the current family home. At age 12, she accepted Christ as her personal savior at Mt. Zion Missionary Baptist Church in Orlando with the late Reverend H.K. Hill, Pastor.

On October 23, 1927 Katherine Lancaster and Otis Hodges were united in Holy matrimony. Otis worked as a chef for the railroad and Katherine assisted him as they traveled and worked in Sanford, Tampa, Jacksonville, Miami, and New York.

Never forgetting their commitment to God, they united with Shiloh Baptist Church in Orlando with the late Reverend T.C. Collier, Pastor. Otis was ordained as a Deacon and Katherine became a Deaconess. She also served the church as an usher on Board #1.

After the death of Otis in 1952, Katherine and her sister Della worked in New York. When their sons Billy Lancaster and Babe Lancaster, returned to Orlando with physical conditions caused by their boxing professions, the sisters returned to Orlando to care for their sons.

After returning to Orlando, Katherine joined Mt. Pleasant Missionary Baptist Church under the leadership of the late Reverend Joseph Hargrett. Both sisters were active in church organizations and clubs. Some of the auxiliaries that Katherine was a member of included the choir, the Missionary Circle, and the Deaconess Board. She and her sister were instrumental in organizing the Busy Bee Club of the church.

In 1963 Katherine saw a great need in a girl called "Little Catherine" who was her brother Ezekiel's granddaughter. Katherine adopted her and became the mother of a 13 year old in her mid-sixties.

Katherine spent life as a devoted caregiver for her family including her late son Billy Lancaster, her late sister Della Lancaster, her late brother William Lancaster, and her sister Bessie Cobbs who she cared for until June 2006. Katherine Lancaster Hodges departed this world on Tuesday, January 2, 2007, at the Court Yard of Orlando Nursing Home. She will be greatly missed by her family and friends.

The home going services were held at Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church, Orlando FL, where the Rev. O'Hara C. Black is pastor. The body was interred in Greenwood Cemetery

IVERSON, RONALD (MAY 10, 1955-APRIL 21, 2004) -- On Wednesday, April 21, 2004, the Lord called Ronald Iverson home to enter eternal rest. He was a native of Hartford, Connecticut and the son of Jessie Mae Oxford Iverson and the late Willie L. Iverson, Sr. [Ronald was the grandson of the late Jess Oxford].

Ronald graduated from Hartford High School where he excelled in sports, especially basketball. He later joined the Hartford, Connecticut Sheriff's Department where he worked for several years. In 1988 he moved to the Tidewater area where he met and married Stephanie on May 28, 1988. They shared nearly sixteen years of marriage and raised two children (Fanty and Jazz). He worked as a master car detailer and hoped to open his own shop in the near future, however, his unexpected call home suspended his dream.

Ronald, affectionately called "I", was a fun loving man that never met a stranger. He truly had the "gift for gab." Ronald touched many lives wherever he went. No matter the amount of time you spent with him, you never forgot his smile and his sense of humor. He especially bonded with the elderly, and would often say, "when you sit with them you gain wisdom." His love of family is what we will remember most about his life. He was so proud of his nephew Allen Iverson, especially when he was drafted by the Philadelphia 76ers into the NBA. He loved being an "Iverson", and despite the odds against them, he would say, "Iversons will survive." He saw great things for his family and we intend to follow his lead and pursue our dreams until we leave this world. Don't cry for "I", he loved, he lived, and now he lives!

Ronald is survived by a loving wife, Stephanie Iverson of Newport News, VA; six children Stefant Boyd, Jasmine Iverson, Dynale Martin, Ronnette McCalop, Colby Iverson, and Tyshawn McIntosh; ten brother/brother-in-laws, Jimmy Iverson and Eddie Iverson of North Carolina, Curtis Iverson and Lawrence Iverson of Hartford, CT, Henry Simon, Gregory Pittman, Lawson Breedlove, Daniel Breedlove, Joseph Breedlove, and Martin Dougherty of Newport News, VA; five sisters-in-law, Ann Iverson of North Carolina, Trudy Stephens of Philadelphia, PA..Beverly Simon, Angela Breedlove, and Keisha Breedlove of Newport News , VA ; nine grandchildren and additional family.

Ronald's remains were interred at Green Lawn Cemetery , Hampton , VA.

Charles was a dedicated teacher for forty years. He taught at Mississippi Valley State University , Itabena , Mississippi and in the DeKalb County Public School System. The majority of his teaching career was in the Atlanta Public School System where he faithfully served at Samuel Howard Archer High School as a math instructor, Registrar and Manager of Chaney Stadium.

Charles was a member of a variety of organizations including Phi Beta Epsilon and Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternities, Valhacha Community Club. As a people person, Charles cherished the thought of working and giving of himself to help and benefit others. He was a faithful donor of numerous charities and organizations, an inspirational motivator and mentor to countless students and educators in their pursuit of educational and life advancement. He learned to farm at an early age and developed a growing love for the art of food preparation and cooking. He loved to prepare meals and invite all who would to partake of his new found recipes and experiments in dining. One of his greatest joys was a weekly, if not more often, excursion to the grocery stores and food markets of Georgia . He was a collector of recipes and cookbooks. Charles loved to travel with the high points of each trip centering on the dining experiences encountered. He also loved to read and had an unquenchable thirst for knowledge, including medical literature. During his shut in time he continued to keep in touch and abreast of the latest events by spending a great deal of time communicating by phone.

Charles served as a Lector at Our Lady of Lourdes and St. Paul of the Cross Catholic Churches. He served as a faithful member of the Buildings and Grounds Committee, The Knights of Peter Claver and St. Vincent DePaul while at St. Paul of the Cross.

Charles experienced his transference on Sunday, January 12, 2003 at 2 P.M. The life he led speaks volumes to those whose lives he touched and serves as a precise road map to that which God has promised to all who diligently seek Him – a home in Heaven and eternal peace.
